

Privacy Policy

In this document you can find information about the data treatment performed by the website fin-literacy.eu according to the GDPR 2016/679 article 13.

This policy can always been found on the website <https://fin-literacy.eu/sources/docs/privacyPolicy.pdf>

In this document you can find these subjects referring to:

- website, Financial Literacy website, fin-literacy.eu

refer to the website fin-literacy.eu

- developer

refers to Alessandro Flora which is the main developer and the responsible for data keeping; he can be contacted at the email address info@fin-literacy.eu

- schools, universities, partners, members

refer to the schools or universities joined the Erasmus+ Financial Literacy for the economic development of society; in particular:

- Varna Free University – Bulgaria
- Yavuz Selim Ortaokulu – Turkey
- Platon M.E.P.E. – Greece
- Universal Learning System – Ireland
- Context – Finland
- South West University Neofit Rilski – Bulgaria
- Yenilikçi Eğitim Derneği – Turkey
- Liceo Einstein Torino – Italy

1. Collected data and treatment aim

The data collected by the website consists of:

- surname, name;
- email address;
- nationality.

The collected data is only used to offer the service; in particular the information will be visible by:

- surname, email address developer
- name, nationality visitors of the website (even the non-registered ones)

In a more specific way the name and nationality of the registered users will be displayed in the comment area of each article they put a comment on.

It's not possible to hide own name and nationality while commenting articles – the user can anyway delete the comments he put in the past or delete his account if he doesn't desire it anymore by itself.

According to the actual normative nobody under the age of 16 can register the website. By checking the I accept the privacy policy checkbox on the registration form you ensure you are 16 years old or older.

It's anyway a developer's faculty to remove from the website the users seen as SPAM, in particular users:

- commenting in an improper way the articles – for example writing non-pertinent information or advertising any kind of product or service;
- spreading hate between users – for example using hate speech (it's mandatory for users to respect the netiquette);
- trying to violate the safety of the collected data or the website in general.

2. Data collection and conservation

The data collected are by the website by the insertion from the user in the registration page. It's mandatory to read, understand and accept this document (also referred as policy privacy) in all its parts before subscribing.

The database is collocated in Italy (European Union) and fully respects the users' privacy; it's only accessible from the developer in case of maintenance or in order to provide assistance.

3. Unsubscribe from the website

It's possible for the users to unsubscribe from the website by pressing the Unsubscribe link in the personal area. It will involve:

- the permanent elimination of the data specified at the point 1;
- the permanent remotion of all the comments written by the user.

The non-banned user can repeat the registration procedure if he desires to subscribe again.

4. User's rights

The user can ask for, according to the EU normative n. 2016/679:

- a check of the existence of his personal data on the website (art. 15);
- the rectification or the remotion of his data on the website (art. 16-17);
- limit his data to be used for conservation aims only (art. 18);
- the data portability, meaning receiving them from one of the data responsables, in a structured format, of common use and readable from an automatic device, and transmitting them to another one without any sort of difficulty (art. 20).

6. Newer versions of this document

If a newer version of the privacy policy is published all the registered users will receive a communication within 15 days from the publication and will be able to unsubscribe from the website.

If the user doesn't proceed within the specified term of 15 days he will be considered aware of the new privacy policy and (implicitly) agreeing with it.

More info

In order to receive more information about the website and the privacy policy you can email the developer and responsible for data collecting and keeping Alessandro Flora by sending an email to info@fin-literacy.eu